Drawings

Figures 1 and 2 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.121(d)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 10, 11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hackman. Hackman teaches a flanged, removable skull (14) where the flange of the skull extends around the periphery of the skull and fits into a peripheral groove in a cold hearth (see figures 1 and 7 for example where a groove extends around the upper rim of the hearth) where the hearth is made of copper (see col. 6 lines 20-25 for example) and includes a bottom wall, an upstanding peripheral wall and a plurality of cooling pipes (16) through which cooling water may be circulated, thereby showing all aspects of the above claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 4, 8, 9 and 12-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hackman. As applied to claims 1 and 11 above, Hackman shows all aspects of the above claims except the specifically recited hearth or skull configurations, although as stated above, Hackman does generally teach a skull including a peripheral flange fitting into a peripheral groove of a cold hearth. It has been well settled that where, as in the instant case, an apparatus including all of the claimed components is shown by the applied prior art, motivation to modify the shape or configuration of the claimed components (in the instant case, the hearth or skull flange configurations) without an adequate showing that such a modification materially affects the operation of the apparatus, would have been a modification obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made. See MPEP 2144.04 IV B, and In re Dailey, 149 USPQ 47. In the instant case motivation to alter the shape of either the hearth or the flange of the skull disclosed by Hackman, absent any proper showing of a material difference arising therefrom, would have been a modification obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Each of Harker'776 and Harker'547 are also cited as further examples of cold hearth refining systems.
